

FRIDAY EVENING, OCT. 22, 1909.

Trouble confronts the Aldrich-Cannon organization in Congress in connection with the proposed enactment of currency and banking legislation. Possibly the rock upon which Aldrichism and Cannonism are to be finally wrecked lies partially concealed by this proposition, for there are growing evidences that regardless of public sentiment or political discontent the houses will try to force this legislation through this Congress, and there are just as many indications that they will be prevented by aroused public spirit and a revolt within the republican majority. The meeting of the monetary commission in New York this week was called by Senator Aldrich while he was still in Europe. Democratic and other members of the commission had been notified to meet the Rhode Island senator upon his arrival in New York, and it had been made clear to them that he intended to lose no time in urging and effecting an agreement upon the plan of legislation he has in mind. The reason for haste is apparent. It is now regarded as so absolutely certain that Speaker Cannon cannot be re-elected and that with his approaching defeat there is also sure to come defeat of his plan in the House. Senator Aldrich sees that, if his currency scheme is to succeed, it must be put through while the present organization is in control of both branches of Congress. Whether Messrs. Aldrich and Cannon can accomplish their purpose even in the present Congress is doubtful. From almost every section of the country the revolt against Cannonism is reported to be on the increase. A permanent currency bill prepared by Mr. Aldrich and introduced by Speaker Cannon is certain to be regarded with more dislike and mistrust in the House than was the Aldrich-Vreeland bill. President Taft is expected to give his support to the Aldrich programme, but after his ill-advised declaration in Boston, where he declared himself in favor of the Aldrich plan, while confessing his ignorance of its details, Mr. Taft's support will hardly affect members not already willing to follow the bosses.

An official of the Agricultural Department declares that the rigid inspection of meat in this country is responsible for the high prices and adds that "More meat is consumed as food for human food in the United States than in any other country on God's green earth." This statement is only on the theory that some excuse is better than none, but it is not well founded so far as the price of meat is concerned. If more meat is consumed in this country than in any other it is entirely the fault of the meat trust, and it can be added that more bad meat is offered for sale in this country than in any other. The trust, by means of "embalming" and cold storage keeps meat for an indefinite time rather than reduce the fixed prices, and much of it when exposed to the air and offered for sale becomes utterly unfit for food and should be condemned.

DISPATCHES from the towns along the Susquehanna river state that wild ducks are more plentiful on that river this fall than they have been for a number of years. In one day, a dispatch says, this week hunters near Washington, Pa., killed more than 100. Why this is nothing; one hunter on the Potomac a few days ago killed over one hundred ducks at one shot.

THE use of tobacco by ministers will be barred if the wishes of the Woman's Board Missions of the Methodist Episcopal Church South are carried out. This is but another case of the use of tobacco to the thought. The wish of tobacco is on the increase among ministers rather than on the decrease.

FRANK SMITH, of Philadelphia, received a legacy of $5,000 last week. He is said to have given his wife $10 of it and then disappeared. Another candidate for the meanest man.

From Washington.
(Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.)
Washington, Oct. 22.

The Textile Workers of America, in convention here, today re-elected, with one exception every one of their officers for the ensuing year. Thomas Morgan, of Paterson, N. J., was chosen to succeed James Fringle, of Fall River, as second vice-president. The officers re-elected are as follows: President, John Golden, Fall River; first vice-president, James Tansey, Fall River; secretary-treasurer, Albert Hibbert, Fall River. The most important work of the convention today was the adoption of an amendment to the by-laws, whereby the emergency committee, including the president, first vice-president and secretary-treasurer, were empowered with authority to call strikes, provided such a proposition was unanimous. Heretofore, strikes could only be called upon authority of the general executive council, and, as President Golden explained, the organization was greatly hampered in securing immediate adjustment of difficulties, by the time lost in calling such an executive council meeting. The executive committee was authorized to remove general organizer Charles A. Miles from his work in Paterson, for organization work elsewhere, as soon as arrangements could be perfected. An organizer was also provided for the Dover and Sumnerworth N. H. mills.

L. Guiterres de Lara was arrested at Los Angeles on a warrant issued at the bureau of immigration here, and forwarded to Inspector Ridgway, the charge being that he "had entered the United States without proper examination" such as is customary for alien, and because the bureau of immigration claims to have evidence that he has expressed his belief in anarchy. De Lara was held in communication at Los Angeles because the government feared complications with Mexico, should the socialist be permitted to speak freely to the newspaper men. This fact was admitted today by a high immigration official here. Although officials refuse to admit the fact, there is also a strong suspicion that this action was taken at the request of the Mexican government. The immigration bureau here absolutely refuses to discuss the de Lara case in any way, although acknowledging that the warrant for his arrest was issued from Washington. There is a strong suspicion that de Lara's arrest was made at the instance of the Mexican government. It is stated that every opportunity will be given the socialist leader to disprove the charge that he is an anarchist.

NEW SPANISH CABINET.

The Spanish Cabinet, which was formed January 26, 1907, under the Premiership of Antonio Maura, resigned yesterday as a result of the bitter attacks made against the government by the former premier, Moret y Prendergast, representing a powerful opposition.

At a conference with King Alfonso, Premier Maura told the king that in the face of Senator Moret's statement that the opposition would refuse to discuss even the most urgent measures, he had no option but to resign.

Upon the receipt of the resignation, Moret y Prendergast undertook to form a new ministry, himself assuming the post of premier and minister of the interior. The ministers who took the oath of office last night.

The was a violent scene in the Chamber of Deputies Wednesday, when the opposition, headed by Senator Moret y Prendergast, former premier, renewed its attack upon the government, whereupon Minister of the Interior Laclavera declared that the ministry would not resign under threats.

It was then believed that while Senator Moret was determined to unshove Premier Maura, the liberals, as distinguished from the republicans and socialists, did not desire to assume power, as under the circumstances they would then become responsible for the expenditures involved in the war in Morocco.

DEATH OF SENATOR JOHNSON.

United States Senator M. N. Johnson died at Fargo, N. D., last night of Bright's disease. Gov. Burke, democrat, will name a man of his party to fill the vacancy.
Senator Johnson was born in Wisconsin in 1850. He served on the ways and means committee in the Fifty-fourth and Fifty-fifth congresses, while Mr. Dingley was chairman, received 42 out of a total of 80 votes in the republican legislative caucus in November, 1889, for United States senator, but was beaten in the joint convention by a coalition of democrats with the minority of the republican caucus. He was elected to the Fifty-second, Fifty-third, Fifty-fourth and Fifty-fifth congresses as a republican. In 1899 he voluntarily retired from Congress to run for United States senator, but was again defeated in the legislature. For the next eight years he took no part in politics, giving his entire time to farming and the grain trade. When in 1907 a comprehensive primary law was passed in North Dakota, he again became a candidate for United States senator, won in two primary elections, and received every republican vote in the legislature. Mr. Johnson's home was in Petersburg, N. Dak.

SCHLATTER DEAD.

According to St. Louis records, the man found dead in Hastings, Neb., yesterday is Charles McLean, who has passed in various places as Francis Schlatter, the original Schlatter of "divine healing" fame, who succeeded about 20 years ago to the reputation of Francis Schraeder, the first self-styled "divine healer." Schraeder, after gaining a great reputation as a healer in Denver and other cities, was found dead in the Colorado desert about 16 years ago.

CROSSES FOR VETERANS ONLY.

A heated debate followed the attempt of a number of delegates at the United Daughters of the Confederacy convention at Houston, Tex., yesterday to extend the limits of those who might receive the bronze crosses of honor purchased by the organization for Confederate veterans. The motion was lost.
Only veterans are permitted to wear these crosses, but immediate lineal descendants are permitted to receive and keep them.

Murderer Killed.

Reno, Nev., Oct. 22.—A posse returned to Vinland today after shooting to death Charles Williams, a negro, one of the two robbers who held up a hotel at Vinland Wednesday. All of the jewels and money taken from the hotel were found on the negro.

The two hold-up men stabbed and seriously wounded the hotel proprietor and his son killed, Bert Quasta, the bartender.

Severe Storms.

Wilmington, Del., Oct. 22.—A severe storm struck this city and vicinity at 1 o'clock this morning. It spent its fury in the surrounding country, where it did considerable damage. Wilmington escaped. The storm was most severe in the neighborhood of Talleyville and Klam. Hail fell and the display of thunder and lightning was the most severe seen in that section for a long time.

Negroes Lynched.

Greenview, Texas, Oct. 22.—With three companies of militia on guard this town is recovering from the excitement that followed the lynching late last night of Frank and Louis Williams, negroes, for an alleged assault on Mrs. Will Lloyd. The mob which lynched the negroes took them out of the custody of the troops, who would not fire and whose clubbed muskets were of no avail.

Jones, Forest Hill and C. H. Ridd of Virginia. A resolution was adopted providing for memorial services in commemoration on December 20 next, of the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Albert Pike, the Scottish Rites "patron saint." On that day celebrations will be held by fraternities in all parts of the world.

The woman was struck by one of the bullets and probably wounded. The other four shots went wide of their marks, and John Flynn, a motorman and boarder at the house, made his escape. Surgeons at the Roosevelt Hospital, to which institution the woman was removed, say there is slight chance for her recovery.

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 22.—The police are likely to cause a disturbance in the plans of "Jack" Johnson, negro heavyweight, when the champion appears in police court today to answer a charge of assault. Jack's exploits with his new motor car have annoyed the authorities, and it is reported today the authorities will see to it that he be given a jail sentence, instead of the usual fine. Johnson is scheduled to leave for the east today or tomorrow, and it was expected he would meet Jeffries in New York to settle the details of their battle. If the plans of the district attorney's office succeed, however, the big black will be indefinitely delayed.

Clearing Away Debris.

Cambridge Springs, Pa., Oct. 22.—Gangs of workers are busy on the streets today endeavoring to clear away the debris left by the cyclone that swept the town late yesterday completely destroying four store buildings and twenty residences, besides damaging many others, uprooting giant trees, whirling debris through the streets and resulting in the injury of four persons and property damage to the extent of $250,000.

Among the buildings totally destroyed was the town water plant, and every effort is being made today to resume operations to guard against a water famine.
The cyclone was traveling northeast at the rate of about 65 miles an hour and struck here about 5:30. All the damage was done in about three minutes.

The sky was comparatively clear, when suddenly a low roar was heard and a funnel shaped cloud was seen approaching rapidly. Persons who noticed the clouds or received warning, rushed to cellars or into the streets, and in a moment the air was filled with flying boards and wreckage of demolished buildings.

The hotel Riverside was the first to suffer, the roof being torn off and the guests thrown into a panic. The city pump station was then struck and reduced to a heap of splinters. The palatial residence of T. B. Hanson was twisted and jarred until it crumpled into a shapeless mass, and others quickly followed.

Scores of persons received minor injuries from being struck by flying debris which piled up in the streets until traffic was blocked.

Mrs. Lillian Blystone stepped on to the front porch of her home when she heard the storm approaching and was lifted bodily and carried a block by the wind. She was badly hurt and was taken to a local hospital.

Fear Another Disaster.

Rome, Oct. 22.—Fear that another Messina disaster is awaiting the world at the other end of the wrecked Sicilian lines of communication is hourly growing, and the government is taking extensive relief measures, preparing to forward supplies and help to Catania if a disaster has taken place.

Earth shocks of long duration continue in the neighborhood of Mt. Etna today, but no definite information regarding the extent of the quake or the damage done can be secured, as every line of communication with the quake district was wrecked by yesterday's shocks. A long death roll is feared.

So far only one village has been heard from. That is Aci Reale, on the slope of Mount Etna, which was wrecked by yesterday's shocks. Practically every house in the town was razed, and one man was killed.

The government is making every effort to secure definite information from the stricken territory.

Naples, Oct. 22.—The increased violence of the eruption of Mt. Vesuvius today in connection with the report of continued shocks in Sicily and southern Italy have caused considerable alarm. The peasants, always superstitious, and fearful of another Messina disaster, are avoiding the towns and rushing to the open country. Vesuvius is throwing up great quantities of stone, all of which, however, falls back within the crater. Loud explosions accompany the eruption.

Arrival of Jeffries.

New York, Oct. 22.—James J. Jeffries arrived today on the steamer Lutanis. He was given a grand reception at the wharf of the Onward Steamship company. Jeffries in reply to questions said:

"I am ready to enter the ring at any time, and to sign articles at once. I weigh 225 pounds today and have kept in training while on the other side. The result is that I feel better today than I have ever felt before and I am prepared to uphold the supremacy of the white race. They can't get us together any too soon to suit me."

Jeffries says he is ready to sign articles at once for a fight with Johnson; that he will fight before the club offering the largest purse, for any number of rounds from twenty to a hundred and the larger share of the purse—the exact division to be determined later—to go to the winner.

Roosevelt and Party.

Nairobi, British East Africa, Oct. 22.—Kermit Roosevelt and Leslie Tarlton joined Col. Roosevelt, Major Heller and the Roosevelt staff, who have been here several days hunting in the Nakuru district.

The next three days will be spent in replenishing the hunting outfit, and on Monday the Roosevelt party will leave here for Gassungulaho where they will hunt until the first week in November. November will be spent in the Njore region with Lord Delawere.

McCarren's Condition Again Serious.

New York, Oct. 22.—At St. Catherine's Hospital, in Brooklyn, it was stated this morning that State Senator Patrick Henry McCarren was very low and that all hope for his recovery had been abandoned. He suffered very much through the night with severe nausea and had but little sleep.

At 8:30 his pulse was irregular and very feeble and he was in a state of collapse from which strong stimulants failed to arouse him.

Boys Killed.

San Jose, Cal., Oct. 22.—John and Albert Johnson, ten and eight years old respectively, and Douglas Reynolds, eight, sons of miners at Gasolado, a mining town near here, are dead today as the result of playing with dynamite caps. The three boys found a crack in the wall of the powder house of the Gasolado Mining Company and succeeded in taking 600 dynamite caps from the place. One of the caps exploded and set off the remainder. The three boys were literally blown to pieces.

Danish Cabinet Resigns.

Copenhagen, Oct. 22.—The Danish cabinet resigned this afternoon. The cabinet has only been in power a few months.

Earthquake in Baluchistan.

Quetta, Northern India, Oct. 22.—Terrified tribesmen struggling exhausted into Quetta today report the wholesale destruction of villages throughout north-eastern Baluchistan and western Punjab by earthquake. Hundreds are dead in the villages of Miti, Makhabela, Tano, Kanda, and Karani. Hundreds of small villages throughout the stricken country are scattered about in the accessible mountains. The full death roll will never be known.

According to the refugees arriving here, the entire face of the countryside between here and Khelat, the capital of Baluchistan, has been altered. The quake threw up huge lines of low hills, throwing whole villages into ruins. Fugitives from the town of Karani say that a huge crevasse opened up in the earth with terrible rumblings and entirely swallowed the center of the village.

No news can be secured from Khelat, which has a population of 12,000, or from Hugh, another Baluchistan city of 10,000. Rumors among the nomad tribesmen are to the effect that both of those cities were wiped out by the quake. Owing to the lack of railroad and telegraph facilities it is impossible to gather definite news, but it is assumed that the town of Beli Pat, a railway town in Baluchistan, was wrecked, the public buildings and many private homes demolished and 25 known dead taken from the ruins.

The condition of the refugees arriving here from the quake zone is deplorable. Families have been separated in the flight, and many unaccompanied children, almost dead from exhaustion, are straggling in. All are being cared for by the authorities.

Public Health Men.

Richmond Va., October, 21, 1909.—Each day's meeting of the American Health Association in this city gives an added impetus to health work in Virginia. In an interview today one of the leading scientists of this great body said: "I consider this meeting will have a great effect upon the public health situation in Virginia. The people will have an opportunity to see what public health really means, and they will, I think, be more ardent in their support of this cause in the future." This opinion, shared by many other health officers, has been an inspiration to the health workers in Virginia, judging from their published interview here today.

For the first time since its meeting the association dispensed with its early sittings today and spent the time in a delightful excursion down James river. At this evening's meeting the association had a symposium on popular educational movements in public health, in which A. M. Wilson of Boston, Dr. F. W. Snow of San Francisco, John M. Kingsbury of New York and Dr. D. H. Pease of New York participated. All the speakers emphasized the great effect of proper publicity in health work and were exhaustive in their discussions of how this could best be achieved. After a number of papers on instructions in hygiene the association adjourned.

Remains Identified.

Fall River, Mass., Oct. 22.—What is believed to be the positive identification of the headless body of the girl found a week ago Monday on the Bulger marsh road to Tiverton, R. I., was made today by Mrs. St. Jean, of Woonsocket, who declared there was no doubt that the body was that of her daughter Amelia.

Mrs. St. Jean, who has insisted for a week that the body was that of her daughter, made an examination today of the legs and torso and by means of pock marks on the arms and legs of the dismembered body she made her identification complete.

District Attorney Swift said that today's developments were such that he could see no reason why, upon the arraignment of "Dr." Frank Hill next Monday, the charge against him should be changed from first degree murder.

Predicts Democratic Congress.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 22.—"The speaker cannot hunt all the insurgents out of business by calling them 'jokes' and 'pole cats.' That kind of halder-hasp will not fool everybody." This is the way Congressman Champ Clark, minority leader of the national house of representatives, referred to the effort of Speaker Cannon to read Senator Cummins and the other "insurgents" out of the republican party. In an interview here, Mr. Clark charged Speaker Cannon with mis-statement of facts in the latter's recent address at Elgin, Ill. Clark predicted that the next Congress would be democratic.

Kurdish Raiders Killed.

London, Oct. 22.—Several hundred Kurdish raiders were killed in a pitched battle with Turkish troops on the frontier. The Kurds came over the border from Persia in force, and plundered the Turkish villages. Turkish troops finally drove them back to Persia, almost wiping out the entire marauding band.

The Long Island Murder Mystery.

Lilip, L. I. Oct. 22.—Satisfied that the victim of the murder mystery, which has puzzled them since the skeleton of a woman was found in the woods near here early this week, is Anna Lattier Mueller, a bride of but a few months and prior to her marriage a maid in the home of Isaac Seligman, the New York banker, the Suffolk county authorities are convinced today that they will soon locate her murderers. As expected, the identification came from Germany. The German consul's advisers were that the victim was Frau Mueller, who formerly lived at Weida, in Saxony, central Germany. In February, 1908, she and her husband, Otto Mueller, architect, sailed for America. Both are said to have been missing for some time. The police are trying today to find out what became of Mueller. They point that both he and his bride may have been murdered and their bodies disposed of, or that he may be able to clear up the mystery surrounding his wife's death. Examination of the skeleton has developed that there was a bullet behind one of the ribs, and it is believed by Orsoner Savage that the victim was shot through the heart as well as through the head.
